First, make sure you have the latest AGWA extension. SSURGO datasets are available in 2 versions—your version may be in the version that is not supported by earlier AGWA versions (before 1.42c). If the problem still occurs, check the SSURGO tables that were imported into AGWA. To aid in tracking down the problem, try running the provided SSURGO dataset with the San Pedro dataset. Compare the Access database files, the provided text files and, finally, the imported tables.
